

A Message from Our Senior Vice President of Operations Services & Engineering

Galen Sienicki Senior Vice President of Operations Services & Engineering

Welcome to the Engineering Hub.

This platform marks a significant step forward in how we organize, access, and collaborate on the critical information that drives our operational success. By centralizing engineering standards, specifications, project documentation, and vendor resources, we are enabling our teams to move faster, work smarter, and maintain the high level of quality and safety that defines our organization.

Our engineers, partners, and vendors play a vital role in the strength and innovation of our operations. Whether you're designing solutions, implementing improvements, or ensuring compliance, the Engineering Hub is built to support you—bringing together the resources and tools you need, when you need them.

This is more than just a repository of files—it's a space designed to foster clarity, consistency, and collaboration across all our sites and teams.

Thank you for your continued commitment to excellence.

Warm regards,

Galen Sienicki
